GWST 4503/5990: Men and Masculinities

4:30 PM Thursdays
*Available for Graduate Credit

For More Information Contact
Professor Scott St. Pierre
205 Morrill Hall
scott.st_pierre@okstate.edu

This seminar explores the roles of men and masculinity in a variety of cultural contexts. We will inquire into several theories of masculinity from an interdisciplinary perspective and we will analyze the representation of men and masculinities in the form of historical and contemporary depictions. We will ask: How do we define what it is to be a man in the United States or elsewhere? And is masculinity natural or socially constructed, imaginary or real, flexible or rigid?