SEXUALITIES

Gender and Women’s Studies
GWST 5300.001- Spring 2016
Tuesdays at 4:30pm

“The time has come to think about sex.” – Gayle Rubin

This graduate seminar interrogates theories and realities of sexuality. In doing so, we will consider how sexuality is produced and how it shapes gender, race, bodies, pleasure, identities, and our interactions with others. We will also spend substantial time considering how sexuality is implicated in and supported by systems of power and inequality.

For more info contact:
Dr. Megan Burke
megan.burke@okstate.edu
Visit our website: http://womensstudies.okstate.edu